

Although television corporations have rights on their programming, they should not have the right to prevent viewers from recording their show. This has been upheld in courts before (time-shifting, etc.) Serve consumers, NOT conglomerates.